

The Music Room:

After the wonderful debut novel Cheating Death by Judy Reveal, she is back with another winner! The Music Room includes her characters from Cheating Death Lindsey Gale and Conrad Trent. This time they are thrown in a mystery neither one of them expected. She goes a little different from the classic “who dunnit” genre, into a more thrill / mystery experience. She expands on her characters again in a way that make you want more and more. We see the growth that Judy has made in creating such a complex story that is extremely easy to read. Judy is an author that we will hear from in the future and she deserves to be mentioned with top authors of this genre.
